

An adorable picture book, perfect for settling into the bedtime routine

Silvia Schröder, Silke Schwarz
Ten, Nine, Eight – The Fox Cub Says Good Night
[Zehn, neun, acht - der Fuchs sagt gute Nacht]

Penguin Junior
32 pages
Format 27,0 x 23,0 cm
March 2021
3 +
Rights available except: World English

Silvia Schröder worked in publishing as an editor and programme manager for several years before she decided to write stories herself. She lives in Hamburg with her husband and four sons.

Silke Schwarz is a singer, music teacher and educationalist. She is married with three sons and among other activities lectures at the teachers' training college in Heidelberg.

Ramona Kaulitzki grew up in a small town in Germany, and was creative even as a child. She loves getting deep into her characters, and makes up whole worlds for them. Her love for animals and nature is a source of inspiration for her. The picture book Sisters First by Jenna Hager Bush & Barbara Pierce Bush and

In ten minutes it'll be time for bed. The little fox and his friends aren't tired at all, but there's no changing Daddy Fox's mind.

So the little fox and his friends have ten eventful minutes left – for all kinds of things go on in Slumberwood just before dark! But adventures can be very tiring...

- The picture book Sisters First illustrated by Ramona Kaulitzki was a 2019 New York Times bestseller
- A gentle story perfect for the nightly bedtime ritual
- A strong concept: one mouse after another leaves the story, until the little fox, too, decides it's time for bed
- Ten minutes is plenty of time to have lots of little adventures
- Slumberwood is a cosy and magical world

illustrated by Ramona
Kaulitzki was a 2019 New York Times bestseller.

Penguin
Random House
Verlagsgruppe

For more information please visit www.randomhouse.de