Peter Gaymann was born in 1950. He first worked in social education and as an art teacher. Since 1975 he has worked solely as a graphic artist and cartoonist. Being self-taught, Gaymann developed his own style. His humorous cartoons with hens, as well as those with the species Homo sapiens, parody the all too human weaknesses and strengths of everyday life. After first appearing in magazines and newspapers, he has had many books published and works as an illustrator for books and calendars. Gaymann is one of the most successful and popular cartoonists in Germany. Many of his books have become bestsellers, attaining cult status among their readers.

Peter Gaymann is 60 years old! We congratulate him with a special anniversary volume: 240 pages with the finest, funniest, and most pointed cartoons from thirty years of his work. Hens in a losing-weight craze, obstreperous cats, human couples with large and small problems, wine connoisseurs and the newly in love, travelers in Italy, and other contemporaries – Peter Gaymann has known them all, and has lovingly immortalized them all in his cartoons.

Press

"Whether hens or pigs – Peter Gaymann's trademark is the symbiosis of satire and endearing humor." Süddeutsche Zeitung

"His wit is dry, his pen sharp, irreverent and colourful." Bonner Generalanzeiger
