Reinhard Kleindl, born in 1980, has a soft spot for hard-core tension. The science graduate is a professional slackliner and has already balanced over the Victoria Falls. The Ravine is his second thriller featuring investigator Anja Grabner.

"He's back, it's starting again." First of all, murder investigator Anja Grabner in Vienna receives this baffling message. Then soon afterwards a family disappears, and everyone says they have seen nothing.

There is one detail Anja can't get out of her mind: dead ants have been found in the house belonging to the missing family – just as with another family that several years previously were brutally murdered after being tortured for days in a ravine close to the remote mountain village. Has the perpetrator in that case gone on another killing spree? Anja makes for the ravine in search of the truth and is soon facing sinister abysses ...
