Karla is facing the most difficult job in her career as a love doc and self-professed sexpert: she has to cope with her own broken heart. So she ventures on an erotic experiment with herself: she installs "Lovecoach", the new popular dating app and follows the advice she always gives her clients – ten first sex times, so goes her theory, then your mind is free and you can decide without hurt feelings how you want to carry on living. Instead of love-eat-pray Karla believes in lick-pet-fuck. But there is a big difference between theory and practice, as Karla is very soon to realise.
