T.S. Orgel is the pseudonym of the two brothers Tom and Stephen Orgel. In another life they work as a graphic designer and advertising copywriter the one and publishing manager the other, but when they put pen to paper the result is fantastic worlds.

Nothing is as it used to be in the Berunic Empire. The princes have gathered in the capital city in order to face the Kolnores. But it is long since too late, the enemy is already in their midst. In the meantime the protectorate Macouban is completely occupied by the witches of the Huacoun and their vassals. Only Xari, knight Cunrad and the shield breakers are facing them, but the truth is even more terrible. For while the empire is sinking in warfare there are ancient powers awakening, and the end of the world is nigh ...
