

The true story of a woman who went through hell in Africa

Hera Lind
Caught in Africa
[Gefangen in Afrika]
Novel based on a true story

Diana Taschenbuch
400 pages
Format 11,8 x 18,7 cm
November 2012

Hera Lind, born in 1957, studied German language and literature, music, and theology. She was working as a singer when her first novel A Man for Every Key became a sensational bestseller. This novel was followed by many more, among them The Super Woman and The Champagne Diet. With her novels based on true stories she took the Spiegel bestseller list by storm.

www.heralind.com

A small town in the late 1960s: Her childhood is hell – the post-war years leave their mark on Gerti Bruns, who has scarcely a chance to have any education. She runs away from home when she is thirteen, only then to be exploited as an unpaid maid. Again she flees, this time to what seems like paradise: the good-looking Leo Wolf at last gives her a life in safety and affluence.

Then, however, Leo goes to the political hot spot of South-West Africa, where apartheid rules and civil war is looming. He doesn't rest until Gerti finally gives in and joins him with their two sons. This is the biggest trap of her life, and the only way Gerti can escape is by fleeing again...

More than 500,000 copies sold of Hera Lind's books.

Also available:

Der Überraschungsmann [The Surprise Man], 2011
Himmel und Hölle [Heaven and Hell], 2011
Der Mann, der wirklich liebte [The Man Who Really Loved], 2010
Die Erfolgsmasche [The Success Ploy], 2009
Herzgesteuert [Heart-Controlled], 2008
Schleuderprogramm [Spinning Programme], 2007
Die Champagner-Diät [The Champagne Diet], 2006