

Courageous, affectionate, unconditional – a woman fighting for life and death

Hera Lind
Dragon Children
[Drachenkinder]
Novel based on a true story

Diana Taschenbuch
432 pages
Format 11,8 x 18,7 cm
December 2013

Hera Lind, born in 1957, studied German language and literature, music, and theology. She was working as a singer when her first novel A Man for Every Key became a sensational bestseller. This novel was followed by many more, among them The Super Woman and The Champagne Diet. With her novels based on true stories she took the Spiegel bestseller list by storm.

www.heralind.com

When as a young woman housewife and mother Sybille sees the wretchedness of crippled beggars during a trip to Tunisia, something goes click in her heart: she wants to help. It is not long before her garage starts piling up high with wheelchairs and other aids, the distribution of which she organizes. And so she goes to Afghanistan. After her first visit to a refugee camp she takes a dozen war-injured children back to Germany with her for them to be treated. She puts up the most seriously injured victim at her own home, a young man with horrendous face injuries. After four years, Dadgul is able to return to his ruined village, Katachel. Sybille accompanies him. With great energy she builds schools, wells and houses, allows girls go to school – until Dadgul, whose life she had saved, turns into her biggest enemy. He does all he can to get her out of the way. But Sybille fights for her village in Afghanistan, for her reputation, for her life...

Also available:

Verwechselfahre [The Change and Confusion of Life], 2013
Gefangen in Africa [Caught in Africa], 2012
Männer sind wie Schuhe [Men Are Like Shoes], 2012
Wenn nur dein Lächeln bleibt [When All That Remains is Your Smile], 2011
Der Überraschungsmann [The Surprise Man], 2011
Himmel und Hölle [Heaven and Hell], 2011
Der Mann, der wirklich liebte [The Man Who Really Loved], 2010
Die Erfolgsmasche [The Success Ploy], 2009

Herzgesteuert [Heart-Controlled], 2008
Schleuderprogramm [Spinning Programme], 2007
Die Champagner-Diät [The Champagne Diet], 2006

Penguin
Random House
Verlagsgruppe

For more information please visit www.randomhouse.de