Hera Lind, born in 1957, studied German language and literature, music, and theology. She was working as a singer when her first novel A Man for Every Key became a sensational bestseller. This novel was followed by many more, among them The Super Woman and The Champagne Diet. With her novels based on true stories she took the Spiegel bestseller list by storm.

Rosemarie meets Kasun in Sri Lanka. He takes her with him to a full moon festival with white elephants by the sea, and before long she has lost her heart.

Back in Germany, she goes to all lengths to get a visa for the 27-year-old Singhalese and in spite of her limited financial means stands surety for him. As yet she has no idea that Kasun is going to disappoint her bitterly. It is on the verge of being a miracle that she forgives him. But for a woman who can see deep into the hearts of other people it is a matter of course.

A true story as only Hera Lind can write.
