

"The people here live, love – and die. Gripping!" Tina Woman & Style

Luis Sellano
Portuguese Tears
[Portugiesische Tränen]
A Lisbon crime story

Heyne Taschenbuch
352 pages
Format 13,5 x 20,6 cm
April 2018

Luis Sellano is the pseudonym of a German writer. Although stockfish has never been his favourite food, Luis Sellano loves pastéis de nata and vinho verde all the more. He fell hopelessly in love with Lisbon on his very first visit to the city on the Tejo and regularly makes for the Iberian Peninsula, its scenery and the people living there and enjoys its culinary delights.

For the German investigator Henrik Falkner the picturesque alleyways in the old town of Lisbon have become a new home. From his uncle Martin he has inherited a quaint antiques shop – and all manner of artefacts from a hitherto unsolved crime.

One day, he finds a koi wrapped in a kitschy flag with a picture of a rare Japanese fish on it. Henrik suspects he has stumbled onto a new mystery. A deathly mystery at that, for clues lead him to unscrupulous collectors of the valuable fish who will stop at nothing. It is not long before Henrik and pretty policewoman Helena are facing their first corpse. It won't be their last ...