Emma Sternberg was born in 1979. After studying media science for four years she was given a job in radio and never finished her M.A. thesis, which she has always regretted – even if only a little. Her debut novel Five by the Sea was a big success and has been on the Spiegel bestseller list for weeks.

Lou is a successful lawyer at a well-known chambers in Berlin. She may not have a private life, but she's succeeded in suppressing any thoughts of having one. When her brother Pip dies in a car accident her world is shaken to its foundations. Suddenly she can no longer sustain her intense lifestyle. And there are so many questions, too: what's the deal with the crooked old summer house, which Pip rented shortly before he died, and where he was spending more and more of his time?

She can't get the garden out of her head, and keeps visiting it, at first only because she feels close to her brother there. But with every spring day that passes and every chirping of the birds she hears, she realises she's getting closer to herself, too...
