Claus-Peter Hutter, born in 1955, is the president of the NatureLife International foundation and the author of numerous books and publications on environment and consumer-related subjects. He has been in charge of award-winning and internationally acclaimed nature and environmental protection projects as well as various environment campaigns such as for the BUND ecology group and the EuroNatur foundation he co-founded. Hutter's main job is running an Academy for Nature and Environment Protection.

A once-in-a-century storm, a once-in-a-century flood, a once-in-a-century drought, insect plagues – extreme nature events are happening on a yearly basis and have long ceased to be something only happening in distant countries. Yet they are but harbingers of what is to come.

Claus-Peter Hutter compellingly demonstrates how far climate change has already proceeded, what we have to expect from the next years, and what strategies we all need to adhere to for a life under more aggravated conditions. We all can and need to do something. Every day counts.
