

Why schools have to change

Rights sold to:

Croatia (Znanje), Estonia (Kirjastus), Poland (Mind Publishing), Slovenia (Mohorjeva)

Jesper Juul, born in 1948, has achieved worldwide renown with his lectures and successful parenting books. In his multinational counselling and seminar project familylab international, this Danish family therapist guides parents through the process of forming relationships within the family, in keeping with their deeply held inner values.

Jesper Juul
Schools in Crisis

[Schulinfarkt]

What we must do to improve the situation for children, parents and teachers

Kösel Sach-/Fachbuch
192 pages
Format 13,5 x 21,5 cm
April 2013

In his new book, our best-selling author describes five crucial building blocks necessary for the foundation of a new type of school – one that no longer robs children of their natural pleasure in learning. Nowadays, schools often are characterised by increasing pressure, a purely performance-oriented approach and bulimic learning, which sometimes leave in their wake any real understanding of the material, not to mention human relationships. In this way, today's schools often create frustrated teachers and desperate parents and children, for whom marks and prep become the number-one cause of family arguments and stress. Using unsparing analysis and provocative ideas, Jesper Juul leads the way out of this impasse.

Also available:

By the same author:

Your Competent Family [Die kompetente Familie], 2007

Sold to: Brazil (Novo Seculo), Denmark (Apostrof), Hungary (Park), Italy (Apogeo), Norway (Pedagogisk Forum), Poland (Mind Publishing), Sweden (Bonnier)

Puberty – When Your Kids Know It All and You Can't Teach Them a Thing

[Pubertät - wenn Erziehen nicht mehr geht], 2010

Sold to: Croatia (Pelago), Denmark (Apostrof), Estonia (Kirjastus), Italy (APOGEO), Korea (Vega Books), Lithuania (Tyto Alba), Norway (Cappelen Damm), Poland (Mind), Slovenia (Didakta), Spain (Medici), Sweden (Bonnier), The Netherlands (Forte)