

Practical instructions for the ideas of Pikler, Montessori, Hengstenberg and Juul

Astrid Draxler, Angelika Koch

The FenKid Book for Parents

[Das FenKid-Buch für Eltern]
Loving support for children age 1–3

Kösel Sach-/Fachbuch
208 pages

Format 17,0 x 24,0 cm

October 2017

Illustrated in 4c throughout; with numerous photographs

Astrid Draxler is a natural health practitioner focussing on body therapy and couple and family therapy, and her post-graduate training has included courses as a FamilyLab lecturer held by Jesper Juul. She has been freelancing since 1995 as a parents and couples consultant. She and Angelika Koch have developed FenKid® training courses and in-house-seminars.
www.fenkid.de

The idea behind FenKid is "accompanying early childhood development". The concept is based on the latest research and pedagogic concepts from experts including Maria Montessori and Jesper Juul. It helps parents to understand the development and behaviour of toddlers in order to address their needs with sensitivity and in a way appropriate to each child's age. The book also includes a wide range of ideas and advice for everyday situations.

- The popular parent-child course as a book
- For the first three years of life