

Favourite classics of children's literature

Patricia Schröder

Pinocchio

[Erst ich ein Stück, dann du - Klassiker für Kinder -
Pinocchio]

cbj
88 pages
Format 15,5 x 21,0 cm
July 2012
Illustrated in colour

Patricia Schröder was born in northern Germany in 1960. She is particularly committed to the promotion of reading skills among children, and to this end she developed the idea of the "Let's read together" series, which is aimed at helping children to discover the fun of books and stories by reading.

Read more at www.patricia-schroeder.de

One night, something wondrous happens in old Geppetto's workshop: the wood carver makes a doll and calls it Pinocchio. No sooner has he finished it than the wooden puppet comes to life – and disappears out through the front door. Here there are all sorts of adventures lying in store for Pinocchio. But if his biggest dream is to come true and he is to become a real boy, he has to rise above himself.

Even after 130 years, Pinocchio's adventures have lost none of their charm. Delightfully told by Patricia Schröder.

- Especially designed for reading together
- Favourite children's classics told in the successful "Let's read together" series
- Exciting adventures revised and recounted by popular children's book authors
- Target Group: 6 plus

Press

"This book is excellent for reading with beginners." Bild am Sonntag