What a sensation: a team of scientists has developed P.A.W., a perfect dog and with it a collar that translates dog language into human language! But P.A.W. is not only very intelligent but also extremely inquisitive. He escapes from the laboratory and enthusiastically explores the world, the people in it and other dogs – which, however, he finds rather extraordinary. The feeling is mutual! The scientists obviously want to get P.A.W. back again, and so a hackles-raising adventure begins. In the end, P.A.W. decides to stay with his new family – as a perfectly imperfect dog that can communicate perfectly with humans and animals even without his special collar.

- Exciting, amusing and touching animal story
- Dream of all dog lovers young and old: a dog that can speak
