

Exciting – wild – passionate! The new fantasy romance by bestselling writer Lynn Raven alias Alex Morrin

Lynn Raven
The Kiss of the Kjer
[Der Kuss des Kjer]

Novel

cbt
608 pages
Format 13,5 x 20,6 cm
June 2010

Rights sold to:
Polen (Foka)

Lynn Raven used to live in New England in the USA before ending up in Germany, in spite of her love for the wildly romantic Maine coastline. After returning to the USA she now not only alternates between high and dark fantasy but also between the continents, and is successful under the names Lynn Raven and Alex Morrin.

It is with a trick that Mordan, the first army leader of the warlike Kjer, manages to catch the young healer Lijanas from the people of the Nivard. His aim, on behalf of his royal leader King Haffren, is to take the healer to court, along with a magic potion, the "Tears of the White Snake". This was Ladakh's suggestion, the royal counsellor, who is, however, pursuing a plan of his own, which is to reawaken a demon god long ago banished by a soul witch.

When Lijanas is kidnapped by the Kjer warrior Mordan, her only thought is to escape. But the closer she gets to Mordan, who is notoriously known as the "blood wolf", the more she is attracted to him – and he to her ...

Press

"This is how fantasy should be: passionate, romantic, suspenseful, with wonderful characters in an exotically foreign world. Welcome to The Kiss of Kjer!" Münchener Merkur

Also available:

Mirror of Fire and Ice [Spiegel von Feuer und Eis], 2009